Thea Van Schalkwyk

Hello!

Time for some relaxing art activities you can do while staying at home.

In this free booklet:

- Phone Photos
- Mandalas
- A Drawing Activity

and

Cut-out and colour surprises for our little artists

Hope you will enjoy these!

Kind regards,

Thea

Phone Photos

[For individuals and families]

Create an album of photos documenting your stay at home time.

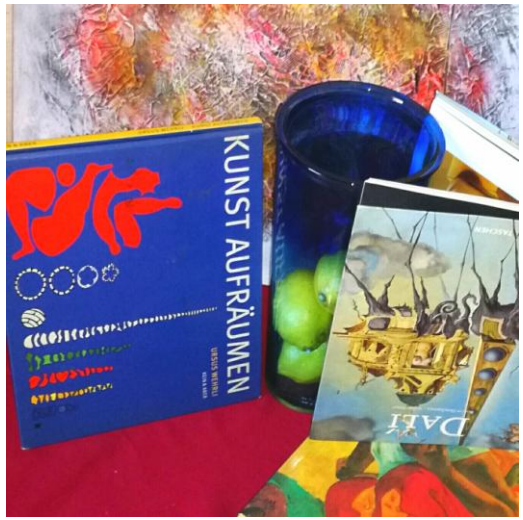

Here are your activities:

1) Walk around in your garden and take three to six photos of mini landscapes.

2) Create a still life.

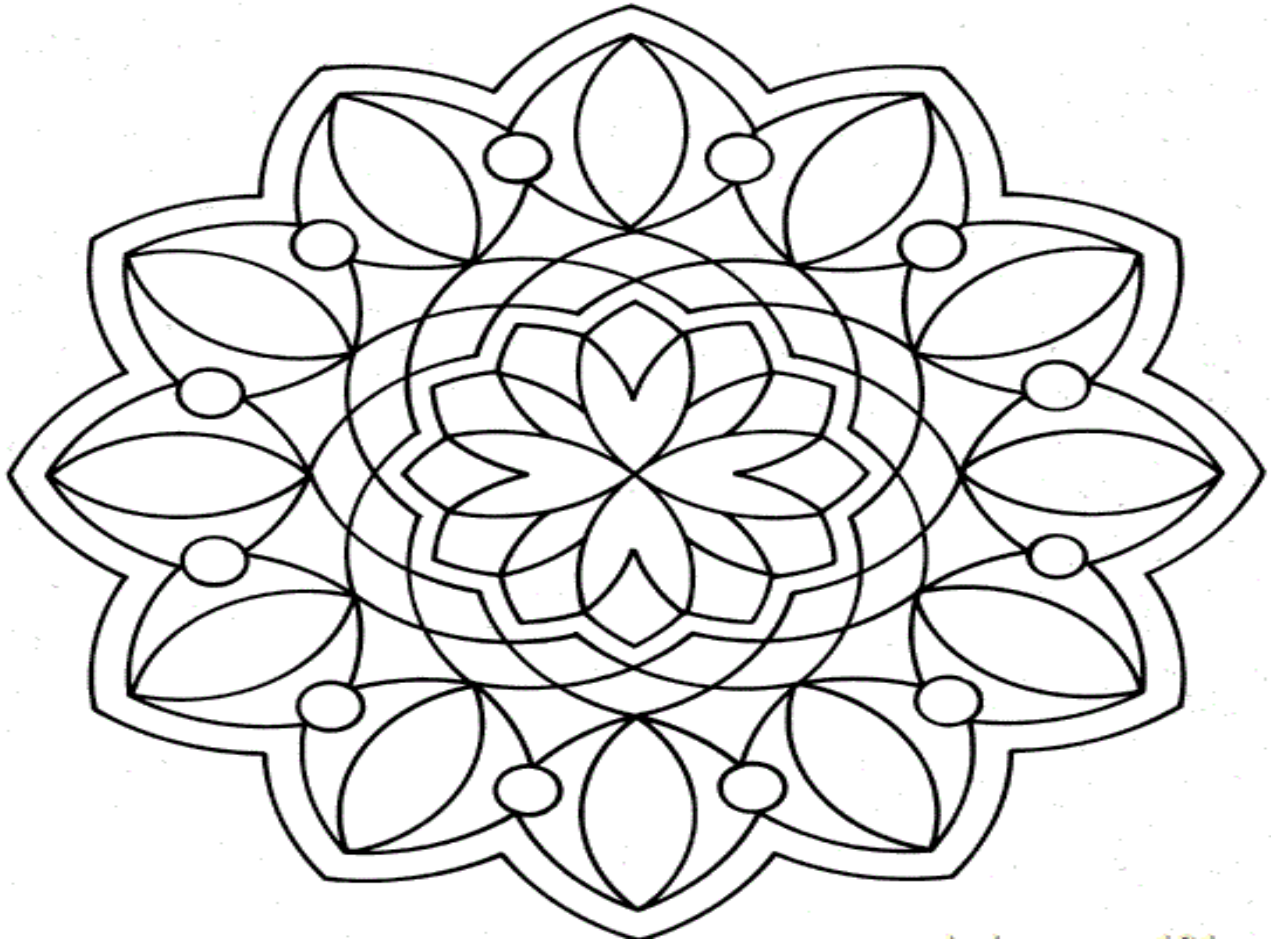

I've used books, a vase and lemons for my simple example.

Change this into six different compositions and photograph these.

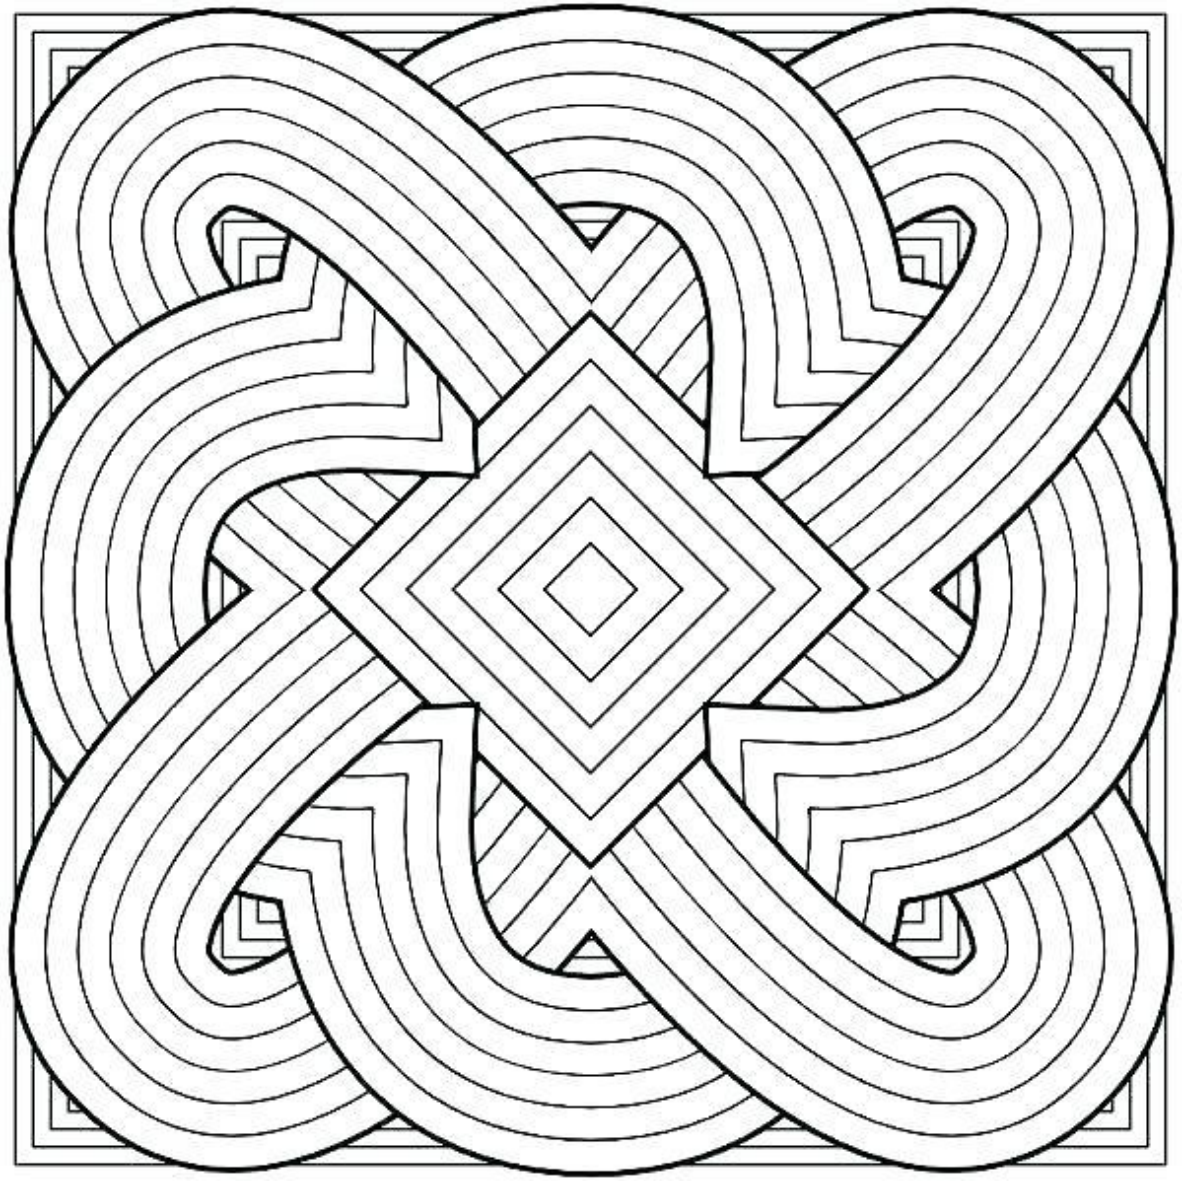

Colour-in

Everyone loves doing these!

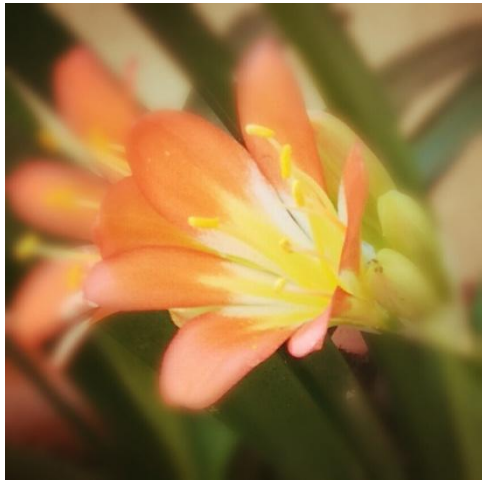

Time for a bit of drawing

For this activity we return to our gardens, patios or balconies.

All you need - a sheet of printing paper and a pen or pencil.

Take a closer look at those mini landscapes you have photographed.

Here are my three examples:

On your sheet of paper, try to sketch one of your mini landscapes –
a simple flower or perhaps a plant in a pot.

While you are doing this, I am working on an artwork inspired by one of these photos!

For our little artists

Cut-out and colour surprises

Ask mum or dad to help you cut these out – could be more than one. Have fun!
